ADVERTISEMENT.

THIS Edition contains a List of the Members of the two last and present House of Commons, shewing the Changes made in Parliament by the General Elections in 1780 and 1784. And it is farther improved with the Additions of the Date when each City and Borough first sent Representatives to Parliament, the Right of Election in each Place, and the supposed Number of Electors. Where the Right of Election has been ascertained by a Resolution of the House of Commons, the Substance and the Date of that Resolution are given. Where there is no Date to the Right of Election, there has been no Resolution of the House upon it, and the Custom, which is given, is still adhered to. The supposed Number of Electors follow.

EXPLANATION.

Abingdon first sent Representatives to Parliament in the 4th Year of the Reign of Philip and Mary. The Right of Election is in the Inhabitants not receiving Alms, or any Charity, by a Resolution of the House of Commons of the 18th of January, 1708. The supposed Number of Voters are 600.

Respecting the Lists of Changes in all the great Offices, the Rule laid down and pursued in this little Book, is, in each office first giving the Person or Persons who held that Department at the Accession of the present King, and then the Changes, or Alterations, which have been since made, follow with their Dates.

No Pains have been spared to be as accurate as possible: But Notice of any Errors will, at all Times be thankfully received by the Publishers, together with any Hints for Improvement.

A LIST of the late and present Members of Parliament.

* * The names in Roman characters are the gentlemen elected at the General Elections in 1774 and 1780, and the names in Italic characters are the gentlemen elected afterwards.

* * The names in Roman characters are the gentlemen elected at the General Election in 1784, and the names in Italic characters are the gentlemen who were candidates. The figures shew the numbers who voted for each person.

From an attentive consideration of the above State, which is drawn up with as much accuracy as possible, from the Rolls and Journals of both Houses of Parliament, the following facts may be deduced.

In the first place, it appears, that since the year 1509, (when it is generally supposed that the duration of Parliaments was extended beyond one year) only four Parliaments have existed beyond seven years, and that only seven more have had a sextennial duration.

In the second place, it is sufficiently evident, that of the rest only five Parliaments have lasted above five years; only two Parliaments above four, and but two above three. Thirdly, of the remaining number, only nine existed above two years, and no less than thirty-four for a shorter period.

Lastly, it is certain, that one Parliament with another, the duration of each since the reign of Henry the Seventh, does not exceed the space of two years and about nine months, even including the long Parliament in the reign of King Charles the First, and the still longer one which his Son retained in existence, for the enormous period of about seventeen years.

LORD-STEWARD'S DEPARTMENT.

Lord Steward.

[The estate of the King's household is entirely committed to the Lord Steward, to be ruled and governed by his discretion; and all his commands in court are to be obeyed: his authority reaches over all officers and servants of the King's house, except those of the King's chamber, stable, and chapel. Under the Lord Steward in the Compting House are the Treasurer of the Household, Comptroller, Cofferer, Master of the Household,

Hon. Thomas Erskine,

LORD CHANCELLOR.

[The office of the Lord Chancellor is to keep the Great Seal; not to judge according to the common law, as other courts do, but to dispense with such parts as seem in some cases to oppress the subject; and to judge according to equity, conscience and reason. Wherefore he is said to have two powers, one absolute, the other ordinary: the meaning of which is, he must observe the form of proceeding in other courts; yet, in his absolute power, he is not limited by the written law, but in conscience and equity. He may issue writs of habeas corpus at all times. He has power to collate to all ecclesiastical benefices in the King's gift, rated under 20l. per annum in the King's books. His oath is to do justice to all persons, poor and rich; the King truly to counsel, and to keep the King's counsel, and not to suffer the rights of the Crown to be any ways diminished. The Lord Chancellor and Lord Keeper are the same in power and precedence. Both are appointed by the King's delivery of the Great Seal; they differ only in this: the Lord Chancellor hath also letters patent, the Lord Keeper none.]

At the present King's accession, Lord Henley was Ld Keeper

SECRETARIES OF STATE.

[Until the reign of Henry VIII. there was only one Secretary of State; and until the reign of Elizabeth, the Secretaries were never of the Privy Council. From that time to the present, there have been two Secretaries of State and sometimes three, and thus council has seldom been held without the presence of at least one of them. From the death of Queen Anne to the rebellion of 1745, there was a third Secretary for Scotland; and from 1763, to the loss of America in 1783, there was one for the colonies. The departments of the two Secretaries are divided into one foreign, the other domestic. With the home Secretary, all grants, pardons, &c. regulation in civil matters of every kind, are made out and executed. To the foreign Secretary belong all dispatches to and from other courts, and all business appertaining to the same. They have the custody of the Privy Signet, because the King's private letters are sealed with it. There are four Clerks of the Signet who make out grants, patents, &c. which have the sign manual, to which the signet being added, it is a warrant to the Privy Seal ; as the Privy Seal is a warrant to the Great Seal. The paper office belongs to the Secretaries of State, where all papers, letters, memorials, negotiations, are deposited and preserved.]

ADMIRALTY.

[The power of Lord High Admiral hath, since the reign of Queen Anne, been executed by Commissioners. The stat. of Charles II. ascertains his authority in these words: "That the Lord High Admiral, for the time being, shall have full power and authority to grant Commissions to inferior Vice Admirals or Commanders in Chief of any Squadron of ships; to call and assemble Courts Martials consisting of Commanders and Captains; and no Court Martial, where pains of death shall be inflicted, shall consist of less than five Captains at least; the Admiral's Lieutenant to be as to this purpose esteemed as a Captain; and in no case wherein sentence of death shall pass (by the articles for regulating the government of his Majesty ships of war) or any of them, except mutiny, there shall be execution of such sentence without leave of the Lord High Admiral, if the offence be committed in narrow seas. But in case any of the offences aforesaid be committed in any voyage beyond the narrow seas, then execution shall be done by order of the Commander in the Chief. He appoints Coroners to view dead bodies found on the coasts, and judges in the High Court of Admiralty.

To him belong all fines and forfeitures of all transgressions at sea, and at the sea shore; and in ports from the first bridge on rivers to the sea, goods of pirates, waifs, wrecks, &c.
